

MELBOURNE HEALTH

Passion for Caring – Achieving the Extraordinary

Intensive Care Specialist

*Department of Intensive Care - The Royal Melbourne Hospital
Two (2) Full Time roles to commence January 3rd 2011*

The Royal Melbourne Hospital is one of Victoria's premier tertiary referral hospitals affiliated with the University of Melbourne and strong associations with other research organisations. The hospital has an international reputation as a leader in patient care, teaching and research. We are one of two major Trauma Services of Victoria and provide a range of medical and surgical services as well as specialist programs including oncology, cardiac, neurosciences and Victorian Infectious Diseases Service.

Intensive care medicine is a critical service integral to the delivery of high quality clinical care in all areas of medicine. The relocation of The Royal Women's Hospital to The Royal Melbourne Hospital City Campus and the planned development of a Comprehensive Cancer Centre with precinct partners will further accentuate the need for a high quality, innovative and active department led by research and education.

The Intensive Care Specialist will support the department in the provision of Intensive Care Services with responsibilities in unit administration, clinical care and support of the educational, research and academic life of the unit and ICU staff.

Applications are welcomed from all suitably qualified practitioners.

Enquiries: A/Prof Nerina Harley, Director Intensive Care Ph: 9342 7441

Ref No.50985 - Closes 30/09/2010

For further information and to apply online visit:

www.mh.org.au

Fast Art 117926_v1