Current Concepts in Critical Care

1st and 2nd December 2016

Current Concepts in Critical Care is an intensive two day course designed for the advanced trainee in Intensive Care, Emergency Medicine or Anaesthesia. With limited numbers and small group advanced learning, this course provides an in-depth, practical look at the management of common, real critical care issues.

The material will provide an excellent primer for those doing fellowship examinations, or can simply be an advanced refresher for the practising clinician. The format is one of detailed, small, interactive clinical case study discussion groups facilitated by both an intensivist and subspecialist from the relevant specialty.

Workshops covered include:
- Haematology
- Burns
- Neurocritical Care
- Infections and Microbiology in Critical Care
- Renal and Metabolic
- Trauma
- Transfusion
- Acute Cardiology
