

Critical Care Echocardiography

This workshop aims to address focused echocardiography in critical care; not only covering the CICM syllabus for focused critical care echocardiography (2D echo), but also giving an overview of more advanced echocardiographic features (colour flow imaging, Doppler studies, advanced haemodynamic calculations). Recommended for trainees and consultants in ICU, ED and anaesthesia.

Small groups, high number of faculty and a large proportion of the course dedicated to actual scanning ensures real hands-on experience.

The course has been approved by CICM as a training course.

Topics covered include:

- Ultrasound physics and equipment
- Transthoracic echocardiographic views and imaging planes
- 2D echo (LV, RV, pericardium and fluid status)
- Colour flow imaging, Doppler studies
